Lillas Marie Brown Hatala,

Excerpt: “Awakening the Divine Warrior Within” Essay

“It is the soul’s duty to be loyal to its own desires.
It must abandon itself to its master passion.”

Rebecca West

This is a personal story about taking a leap of faith for love; a leap of faith for life and a leap of faith into the co-creation of my new emerging life’s work. This new work involves the building of a model of integrative life and leadership that allows the living of your life with greater authenticity and wholeness. This story will show you how you can begin to uncover and live your soul’s purpose and have the willingness and determination to allow spirit to be more of the lead in your life. It will show you how to listen and find the courage to follow the inner promptings of your heart and to put them into practice to help positively transform your world.

My intent in this writing is to help waken your divine warrior within; a hopeful, helpful and peaceful warrior who acts with courage, love, truth, wisdom, commitment and honour for the divine, oneself and others in all aspects of life, love, work and play.”
