Taking Leadership to the Next Level

INTEGRATIVE LEADERSHIP™

Taking Leadership to the Next Level

Today, individuals are faced with increasing complexity in all aspects of their lives. Information is coming at them so fast that leaders can no longer make decisions the way they have in the past. Today's leaders require a multi-dimensional approach to help them thrive in this environment. An integrative approach offers a complete road map to lead oneself and others authentically and appropriately through the most challenging circumstances. Learn about this emerging world view of leadership.

What is Integrative Leadership™?

Integrative Leadership™ offers a holistic approach to leadership – one that is reflective, conscious, thoughtful and responsive. The process of integration involves multiple perspectives, four domains of intelligence and three levels of awareness. It is about knowing yourself, being yourself, determining where you are going and what you are here to do.

Who should attend?

This powerful and practical three-day program is designed for emerging and seasoned leaders who have embarked on their personal leadership journey, and desire to explore the significance, depth, breadth, and potential of leadership. This program is suited for:

- executives and managers in business, education, health care, government and non-profit organizations
- in-house and contracted coaches
- management consultants and change agents
- individuals who desire to know, live and fully express their life's purpose

"Leadership starts with being yourself – your whole self, integrating your heart, body, mind and spirit. This program provides the compass."

Cheryl Dougan, Saskatoon

Learning Goals and Outcomes of Integrative Leadership™

During this three-day intensive workshop you will:

- develop and learn to align the four domains of intelligence that lead to balance, integration and authentic leadership
- uncover previously untapped talents and inner resources to aid you to scan your environment, solve problems, make decisions, plan and capture creative options
- develop the confidence to communicate and act on your intuition in balance with your personal logic
- align your intentions, re-ignite your passion, create innovative solutions and effectively apply them to your existing life and leadership challenges
- clarify and strengthen your personal, interpersonal and organizational relationships
- discover practical insights into personal and organizational dynamics that will allow you to become a more effective leader your first day back at work
- establish a personal vision and ideal, and set the goals you need to achieve them

Method of Learning

The Integrative Leadership™ Workshop is based on contemporary principles of adult learning, affording you the best possible learning experience. You will build knowledge, skills and attitudes through:

- a series of personal assessments
- interactive presentations
- personal reflections
- group dialogue
- experiential exercises
- the 7 steps to becoming an Integrative Leader
- application of the 12 Integrative, Transformative & Transcendent Practices (ITTP)™

You will receive a Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® (MBTI), an Emotional Intelligence Quotient (EQ), the book Integrative Leadership, and a follow-up telephone coaching/consulting session.

Workshop Leaders: Lillas Hatala & Rick Hatala

Lillas Hatala is a Certified Human Resources Professional, and a leadership development author, speaker, coach, consultant and facilitator. She is the former Faculty Director of Business & Leadership Programs at the University of Saskatchewan – which she began as a startup operation in January of 1993, and passionately served until November, 2006. Rick is the President and CEO of Integrative Energy Ltd., a Calgary-Houston based oil and gas exploration and development company. Lillas and Rick have developed and facilitated Integrative Life and Leadership programs in Canada and abroad, co-authored the book Integrative Leadership, and have co-founded the Integrative Leadership Institute. To order a copy of Integrative Leadership, contact amazon.ca or www.integrativeleadership.ca.

"Integrative Leadership offers readers deep insights into both being leaders and doing leadership. Rick and Lillas offer numerous ways to tap into the leader within each of us...that will allow a future vision full of possibilities..." Barry Z. Posner, Ph.D., Co-author of the International Best Seller, The Leadership Challenge

What Past Participants have said about the Integrative Leadership™ Workshop:

"Integrative Leadership brings a holistic approach to our life, and the practices help to enhance our performance in our work and relationships. Rick and Lillas' reflective facilitation style is a vital factor in participant success. If you seek personal or organizational change – Integrative Leadership can help you. I highly recommend this workshop!" Lorna Friesen, Brennan & Associates, Calgary

"I found that I can apply the information in Integrative Leadership to all aspects of my life. The way it was presented allowed me to deeply understand and experience the information. The program provided me with an opportunity to be 'real.' I have never felt so empowered to take control of my own life." Peggy Doyle, Calgary

"Integrative Leadership gave me the tools to take back my life and work, and the resolve to allow me to apply them. I found the program was excellent and it helped me realize that I need a deep and complete understanding of myself before I can hope to help others." Shirley Robertson, PCL Construction, Regina, Saskatoon
